

Welcome to Online Programming

Programming online is not different from programming on your system, except a few points. We'll be learning that here. Happy coding :)

Let's start with a basic program to get you onboarded on HackerEarth.

Write a program to print your name as output.

Instructions:

- We have already written the correct code for this problem in the code editor.
- You just have to click on SUBMIT to run the code.